

The background of the entire image is a photograph of the Hambach forest. It shows a dense green forest with several people visible in the mid-ground. Some people are standing, while others are sitting on the ground. There are several protest signs visible, including one that says 'HAMBACH' and another that says 'WILDFREI'. The text is overlaid on this image in a bold, black, sans-serif font.

In the coming cutting season (between Oct 1st 2016 and February 28th 2017) RWE will try to cut down and destroy the last standing part of the Hambach forest and it's tree occupations, once one of the biggest connected forests in germany, to continue their dirty business with brown coal. All this even though they're already balancing on their own limit of existence, and it's already known that the burning of fossil fuel is the number one climate killer.

The resistance against these capitalistic, life contempting economy logics that millions of living beings and -forms see themselves confronted with has grown in the last years, also in germany and the rhineland near Cologne. Discover your possibilities and skills in the fight against destruction, alone or in groups, the more varied and creative the better!

Come to Hambach forest this winter, to show that the world doesn't run on their rules! Defend the Hambach forest!

For living, learning and loving in freedom!